

Mental Health in the Emergency Department

First national study of Emergency Department mental health attendances, estimating demand for liaison psychiatry services

Data source: Cross-sectional analysis of 6,262,602 adult attendances at 97 English NHS hospital trusts, Apr 2013 - Mar 2014 (HES A&E dataset)

To meet proposed new NHS Access standards for emergency mental health care, Trusts need to strengthen the availability of care 'out of hours' and the provision of resources for individuals requiring admission

For more information go to: <https://tinyurl.com/mental-health-ED> or contact Dr Helen Barratt h.barratt@ucl.ac.uk